

Spanish immigration act 2009

Law 4 / 2000 of 11 January, RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS OF FOREIGNERS IN SPAIN AND SOCIAL INTEGRATION (BOE no. 10, 12 January), in the version given by the Organic Law 8 / 2000 of 22 DECEMBER (BOE no. 307, 23 December), by Organic Law 11/2003, of 29 September (BOE no. 234, 30 September), by Organic Law 14/2003 of 20 November (BOE no. 279, 21 November) and by Organic Law 2 / 2009, of 11 December (BOE No. 299 of December 12).

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

(Organic Law 8 / 2000 of 22 December)

I

On 12 January 2000 was published in the "Gazette" Organic Law 4 / 2000, dated 11 January on the rights and freedoms of foreigners in Spain and their social integration, have been detected during its term aspects in that the reality of migration than the standard estimates.

At the same time, our rules should conform with the commitments undertaken by Spain in particular with the conclusions adopted by the Heads of State and Government of Member States of the European Union on 16 and 17 October 1999 in Tampere on creating an area of freedom, security and justice.

The reform of the Organic Law 4 / 2000 part of the situation and characteristics of the foreign population in Spain, not only today but in the face of the coming years, regulated immigration from considering it as a structural fact which has made Spain a country of destination of migratory flows, their situation, also a transit point to other states, which border controls on routes from ours have been eliminated or substantially reduced.

Moreover, this legislation is part of a comprehensive and coordinated approach in the treatment of migration in Spain, which provides a broad view from all aspects related to it, and, therefore, not only from a unique perspective, as you can be the control of flows, the integration of foreign residents, or the development of countries of origin but all of them together.

II

This Act contains three articles, concentrating first on the amendment of articles of Law No. 4 / 2000 of 11 January on the rights and freedoms of foreigners in Spain and their social integration, while amending the second article single additional provision, adding a new additional provision, and the third fits the parts and chapters of the same to the reform.

Organic Law 4 / 2000 of January 11, retains its structure is articulated around a Preliminary Title devoted to general provisions and where is finalized the scope of it, four titles, and closes with the appropriate additions, transitional derogations and final. Title I contains the articles on "Rights and freedoms of foreigners", Part II on "Legal Status of Foreigners", Title III, "Offenses relating to aliens and penalty system" 'and finally Part IV on "Coordination of public authorities on immigration.

III

The modification of the preliminary title is merely a grammatical improvement in the definition of foreigners, preserving the exclusions from the scope of the law which established in the Organic Law 4 / 2000 of January 11.

IV

Concerning the modification of Title 1, the content is especially important, has been pursued to meet the constitutional mandate of Article 13 which states that foreigners enjoy in Spain the public freedoms guaranteed by Title I of the same, in the terms established Treaties and Law and the relevant jurisprudence of the Constitutional Court (Constitutional Court Judgments 107/1984, of 23 November; 99/1985 of 30 September; 115/1987 of 7 July, etc.). . He has combined this constitutional mandate with the international commitments undertaken by Spain, especially as a member of the European Union.

The Heads of State and Government of the Member States of the European Union agreed in October 1999 in Tampere, which should be guaranteed fair treatment of third country nationals legally residing in the territory of its Member States. An integration policy should aim at granting these residents rights and obligations comparable to those of EU citizens and to enhance non-discrimination in economic, social and cultural development of measures against racism and xenophobia.

The amendments to this Title I of the Act concern highlighted by the foreigners to recognize the maximum number of rights and freedoms. In paragraph 1 of Article 3 provides that, as an interpretative criterion is generally understood that foreigners shall exercise the rights under this Act on an equal footing with Spanish.

V

With respect to Title II of the Organic Law on the legal status of foreigners situations, the premise that informed the changes made on its articles has been to establish a system of authorizations situations and encourage foreigners to enter and reside in our country within the framework of regular versus irregular entry and stay.

This title has been adapted to the provisions concerning the entry visa regime, stay and extension of stay in the Convention Implementing the Schengen Agreement, as Spain is part of this Agreement.

It has remained the status of temporary residence and permanent residence of foreigners, introducing the possibility of granting a temporary residence permit on humanitarian grounds or where there exceptional circumstances.

It distinguishes between the situation of stateless persons and all those foreigners who may not be documented by any country wishing to obtain documentation in Spain as proof.

Regarding the regulation of work authorization that allows foreigners to perform lucrative activities in Spain, self-employed persons, clarifying the difference between the authorization and the mere legal residence status and it is also remarkable given the treatment in this new text to the quota of foreign workers, establishing some exceptions to it in certain circumstances based on the situation of foreign workers. In short, it articulates a documentary regime which provides that an alien who wishes to work in our country who can do it with all the guarantees and rights.

Finally, it has been modified to conform to current regulations on fees, Chapter IV of this title, on fees for administrative permits. The text of the Organic Law 4 / 2000 referred only to fees for administrative authorization to work in Spain.

VI

In Title III, relating to infringements on foreigners and its penalty system, changes have been made which can be summarized under two headings: measures for combating illegal immigration and improving mechanisms to prevent illegal immigration.

On the first point, it is necessary to highlight two distinct issues, such as sanctions to carriers and the sanctions that are directed against those who organize networks for human trafficking.

The reform includes the contents of the Basic Law in accordance with international commitments signed by Spain, as a member of Schengen, sanctions against carriers who transport aliens to the Spanish territory without verifying that they meet the requirements for entry.

With regard to targeted sanctions against human trafficking, introducing measures to further the fight against trafficking and exploitation of human beings, allowing control of certain activities related to it or facilitating the circumvention of the means used by traffickers.

Moreover, assuming that a state law is necessary to provide the tools to enforce compliance with the rules, in this case, those governing the entry and stay in Spanish territory, has been introduced as an offense punishable by expulsion of illegally staying in the Spanish territory, pretending thereby increasing the capacity of state action in terms of controlling illegal immigration, the level of other Member States of the European Union, which have in their legal systems with the possibility of expelling foreigners who are in this situation, an approach that is reflected in the conclusions of the Tampere European Council.

VII

Finally, with regard to Title IV of the Organic Law on the coordination of public authorities on immigration, has revised the definition of the Forum for the Social Integration of Immigrants, focusing on the role of consultation, information and advice on this body towards the integration of immigrants are in Spain, one of the main objectives of the Law

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

(Organic Law 14/2003 of 20 November)

I

On 23 December 2000 was published in the "Gazette" Organic Law 8 / 2000 of 22 December, to reform the Organic Law 4 / 2000 of 11 January on the rights and freedoms of foreigners in Spain and their social integration, thereby giving the answer to the needs presented to address immigration as a structural fact which has made Spain a country of destination of migration flows.

The adoption of that Act 8 / 2000, also answered the need to incorporate the international commitments assumed by Spain in this matter. In particular, it was necessary to reflect the principles adopted by the Heads of State and Government of member countries of the European Union at its meeting on 16 and 17 October 1999 in Tampere on the creation of an area of freedom, security and justice and the Schengen acquis on entry regime, conditions for issuing visas, adjustment of the stay of foreigners, and liability and penalties on carriers.

During the term of the Organic Law 8 / 2000, reform of the Organic Law 4 / 2000, have witnessed a number of circumstances which, taken together, have raised the need to adapt to the evolving former a mutable as the migratory phenomenon . Thus, in addition to the considerable increase occurred in the number of foreign residents in Spain

In recent years, has also noticed a change in the ways in which the act occurs immigration that our country is the host, which has generated a better understanding of this phenomenon to mainstream policy instruments that enable better and easier management of migration flows, providing the means through which immigration has developed friendly legal channels and strengthening mechanisms to influence the fight against illegal immigration, organized and increasingly more resources to achieving its objectives.

These circumstances, coupled with the need, first, to bring domestic legislation in this regard to decisions over the past two years have been taken within the European Union and, secondly, to incorporate certain technical considerations made by the Supreme Court has been advised to review various aspects of the legislation on foreigners and immigration.

II

The objectives pursued with the reform of existing legislation are:

1. Improved management by simplifying administrative procedures, and legal status of the situations of foreigners in Spain as well as determining the types of visas and the effects thereof, and the fight against drug fraudulent management of administrative procedures in this area. All this in order to promote legal immigration and integration of foreigners, thus gaining access to and reside in our territory.

2. The strengthening and, ultimately, improving the means and instruments of penalties under the Organic Law 4 / 2000, as amended by Organic Law 8 / 2000, to combat illegal immigration and human trafficking. In this sense, power is also working with transport companies in order to obtain more information on persons being transferred to the Spanish territory. Such information will improve the strengthening of the tools available to ensure security in international transport, especially air.

Also, reinforcing the procedures for reimbursement of aliens entering our country illegally, and extend the conducts typified as serious violations of all persons who, for profit, induce, encourage, promote, or facilitate illegal immigration people in transit or destined for Spain, or remaining in our country.

3. The incorporation of the provisions adopted by the European Union on enforceability of the fees for issuing visas as well as sanctions to carriers and mutual recognition of expulsion orders to prevent those aliens who are subject on them at any State of the Union may try to avoid moving to another state. With regard to fees for issuing visas, incorporates the provisions contained in the Council Decision of 20 December 2001 amending Part VII and Annex 12 of the Common Consular Instructions and Annex 14 to) of the Common Manual The legislative amendments are intended to bring the Spanish domestic law to collect Council decision and change the subject of the event giving rise to the levy, if the visa becomes the processing of the application it. As regards transport, incorporating the estimates of Directive 2001/51/EC of 28 June 2001 supplementing the provisions of Article 26 of the Convention Implementing the Schengen Agreement.

Regarding the implementation of expulsion orders issued by other Member States of the European Union, fits our regulation with the provisions of Directive 2001/40/EC of 28 May 2001 concerning the mutual recognition of decisions in the expulsion of third country nationals. Also incorporating Directive 2002/90/EC of 28 November 2002 defining the facilitation of unauthorized entry, transit and residence, to which end is perfected one type of sanction under the law.

4. The additions to the text of the Organic Law 4 / 2000, as amended by Organic Law 8 / 2000, arising from the Supreme Court decision of 23 March 2003 relating to the necessary regulation, the Organization Act, certain provisions Regulations implementing the Organic Law 4 / 2000, approved by Royal Decree 864/2001 of 20 July.

III

This Act contains four articles, a single additional provision, two transitional provisions will only repeal provision and three final provisions. The first article, the most extensive, incorporating the changes that were introduced in certain provisions of the Organic Law 4 / 2000, as amended by Organic Law 8 / 2000.

The second article is limited to collecting a change in the repealing one of the aforementioned Act 8 / 2000.

The third article amending the Law 7/1985 of 2 April, Regulating the bases of local government for the purpose of perfecting the information contained in the Municipal concerning foreigners registered. The fourth article introduces a new additional provision of Law 30/1992 of 26 November on the Legal Regime of Public Administrations and Common Administrative Procedure, in order to incorporate into the text of this law, in the Express, a reference to the Organic Law 4 / 2000, so that the procedures are regulated in this procedural peculiarities apply in the same novelty are introduced.

The fifth article introduces a modification in Law 3 / 1991 of 10 January, unfair competition, unfair considering hiring aliens without work authorization obtained under the provisions of the legislation on aliens.

IV

The amendments contained catalog do not concern the rights or the structure of the Organic Law 4 / 2000, reformed by Organic Law 8 / 2000. First, an amendment was introduced to establish the obligation to provide a foreigner's identity card as documentary proof of authorization to reside, thus adapting our policy to Regulation No 1030/2002, the Council of 13 June 2002. In terms of family reunification, to prevent fraud in the "chain groupings, has been incorporated into the Basic Law, as a precondition for the exercise of that right by a resident who was under a prior reunification, which he holds a residence permit independent, as well as certain specific requirements for the practice of family reunification in the case of ascending previously regrouped. Also specifies the circumstances in which spouses and children grouped can access a separate residence permit, for which in any case be required to have a permission to work.

Moreover, changes in visa chase simplify the administrative process, in order to promote legal immigration of foreigners wishing to reside in Spain, eliminating unnecessary procedures. Thus, visa, once the alien has entered Spain, enables them to remain in the position for which they have been issued.

In fulfilling the objectives set by the reform is a basic issue of providing the visa of a new additional function, which is to serve as documentation of a previous authorization to reside and, where appropriate, work in Spain. Thus visa is tied to a novel effect: to enable the alien to remain in our country in the position for which he was issued.

At present visa no effect once the alien has entered Spain, he must go immediately to the relevant offices to apply for authorization of residence and / or work. With the new model, besides the above, the visa allows you to stay in national territory in the situation for which purpose has been granted. Indeed, if the visa is not only to enter Spain, but also enables to remain and, where appropriate, to work, makes no sense to maintain the exemption the same as granting not only serve to waive a requirement of entry into our country, but also necessary to waive the granting of authorization to live and work.

This does not mean that the factual circumstances that previously governed under the figure of the visa waiver will be without legal reflection, since they are now in the field of temporary residence permit in exceptional circumstances, whose profiles are amended by including in the law, in some cases specifically and in other more generic "exceptional circumstances", allowing the rules to more precise regulation of what situations will fall within this generic statement.

We introduce an improvement in the regulation of cases in which documentation shall undocumented aliens.

It also incorporates relevant amendments to introduce clarifications, relating to fees, contains the above Council Decision of 20 December 2001. In terms of offense and its penalty system have been incorporated amendments aimed at providing the legal system with additional tools to combat illegal immigration.

In relation to the detention centers, is included in the Basic Law a new section dedicated to regulate the internal rules of these institutions, ensuring the right of internal communication.

As regards transport companies are incorporated in order to meet obligations information on passengers who are to be moved to Spain before his departure from the country of origin, as well as those passengers not to leave Spanish territory the date specified in the ticket.

It also includes modifications to adapt the title to the obligations under the guidelines approved by European Union sanctions on carriers and mutual recognition of expulsion orders.

Finally, new additions that are incorporated into the Organic Law 4 / 2000, as amended by Organic Law 8 / 2000, are aimed, firstly, to introduce instruments to improve the management of procedures for aliens in order to sort properly, migration and prevent abuse of those.

This will be incorporated, in general, the Impartiality of interest in submitting applications for residence permits and work to be accomplished in the records of the relevant bodies for their information.

This will produce a greater immediacy in which applications are received, winning the processing efficiency of the procedures.

The last of the additional provisions reflects the principle of collaboration between public authorities relating to aliens and immigration, enabling access to the Security Forces of the State, the exclusive purposes of fulfilling their duties, and with full respect for guarantees provided in respect of data protection to certain information in their possession other organs of state administration.

Finally joining the law the identity documents of foreigners to be given on your registration Padronale, adapting the system of EU citizens to the provisions of Royal Decree 178/2003 of 14 February, on the entry and permanence in Spain of nationals of Member States of the European Union and other States party to the Agreement on the European Economic Area.

It also introduces a generic enabling access to the Municipal Register for the Police Department in order to improve the exercise of powers lawfully established on control and stay of foreigners in Spain. This rating is formulated in terms of reciprocity with the National Statistics Institute, in establishing the obligation of the General Directorate of Police report to the National Institute of Statistics, in order to update the contents of the Census, data on foreign is satisfied that they may have suffered variations of those entered in that court.

PREAMBLE

(Law 2 / 2009 of 11 December)

I

The Organic Law 4 / 2000 of 11 January on the rights and freedoms of foreigners in Spain and their social integration has been amended three times since its approval, in particular, has been amended by Organic Laws 8 / 2000 of 22 December, 11/2003 of 29 September and 14/2003 of 20 November.

Of all the reforms that had the Act specified noteworthy because of their greater depth, which took place just months after its entry into force by the Organic Law 8 / 2000 of 22 December. Some of the changes introduced by this law led to the filing of several resources of unconstitutionality against it.

The Constitutional Court has resolved the constitutional motions indicated, inter alia, Case 236/2007 of 7 November and 259/2007 of 19 December, acknowledging that the stated requirement imposed on foreign law for the exercise of fundamental rights of assembly, association, union and strike, they had legal residence in Spain, was an unjustified restriction and therefore contrary to the Constitution, because according to those rights the same reach to all people the fact of being.

Consistent with this, the Constitutional Court has declared unconstitutional the articles of the Organic Law 4 / 2000 regulating the fundamental rights given.

II

On the other hand, has grown the number of EU rules affecting the Immigration Law of the European states, thus, are increasingly adopting the rules in the European Union on immigration, which must be incorporated into our legal system. Along those issues included the signing of the European Pact on Immigration and Asylum, which was endorsed at the European Council of 16 October 2008 by the 27 member countries of the European Union, which sets as its main objective to get an immigration legal and orderly, combating illegal immigration and to encourage integration of legal immigrants through a balance of rights and duties.

This Act takes this reality as something positive in the belief in the need for a common European legal framework on immigration.

So far this were outstanding addition to our legal system directives have been adopted since the last reform of the Law 4 / 2000 of January 11, conducted in December 2003, these being the following:

a) Directive 2003/110/EC, the Council of 25 November 2003 on assistance in cases of transit for the purposes of removal by air. (OJEU of 6 December 2003).

b) Directive 2003/109/EC of the Council of 25 November 2003 relating to the Status of third country nationals who are long (OJEU of 23 January 2004).

c) Directive 2004/81/EC of the Council of 29 April 2004 on issuing a residence permit to third country nationals who are victims of human trafficking or have been subject of an action aid to illegal immigration who cooperate with the competent authorities (OJEU of 6 August 2004).

d) Directive 2004/82/EC of the Council of 29 April 2004 on the obligation of carriers to communicate passenger data of persons carried (OJEU of 6 August 2004).

e) Directive 2004/114/EC of 13 December 2004, the Council on the conditions of admission of third country nationals for the purposes of studies, pupil exchange, unremunerated training or voluntary service (OJEU of December 23, 2004).

f) Directive 2005/71/EC of 12 October 2005, the Council on a specific procedure for admitting third-country nationals for the purposes of scientific research (OJEU of 3 November 2005).

g) Directive 2008/115/EC of 16 December 2008, the European Parliament and the Council concerning the rules and procedures in Member States for returning illegally staying third-country nationals staying illegally in (OJEU of December 24, 2008).

h) Directive 2009/50/CE of the Council of 25 May 2009 concerning the conditions of entry and residence of third country nationals for highly qualified employment purposes (OJEU of 18 June 2009).

i) Directive 2009/52/CE of the European Parliament and Council of 18 June 2009, laying down minimum standards on sanctions and measures applicable to employers of third country nationals in irregular situation (OJEU of June 30, 2009).

In any case, it should be noted that although our legislation predates the adoption of direct, many of the aspects that are regulated under the same and are reflected in our legal system, either in Law 4 / 2000 of 11 January, in its current form or in the Standing Orders as approved by Royal Decree 2393/2004 of 30 December.

Also, it is crucial to this end the ratification and entry into force in our country of its obligations under the Council of Europe Convention on Action against Trafficking in Human Beings (Convention No. 197 of the Council of Europe), done at Warsaw on 16 May 2005.

Immigration is a reality that is constantly changing. Therefore, the legislator is obliged to adapt to its regulations if it wants to provide effective solutions to new challenges.

In addition, migration has become such a dimension in Spain and has such an impact on the economic, social and cultural development by requiring public authorities to develop resolute action on several fronts, including policy. Therefore, public authorities must manage and provide legal channels for migration so that they conform to our ability to host and the real needs of our labor market.

Moreover, Spain is firmly committed to defending human rights, so that public authorities should promote the full integration of immigrants into our country and ensure peaceful coexistence and social cohesion between immigrants and the native population.

IV

Thus, there are three reasons justifying the proposed reform of the Organic Law 4 / 2000 of 11 January, as it stands:

a) The need to incorporate the Basic Law the Constitutional Court's jurisprudence, giving a new wording for this line with the Constitution, articles thereof that have been declared unconstitutional.

b) The need to incorporate into our legal system, indicated through the Organic Law, the European directives on immigration that are pending for implementation or have not been fully implemented.

c) The need to adapt the Act refers to the new migration situation in Spain, which has a few features and poses different challenges from those that existed when it approved the latest amendments to the law.

Moreover, the objectives to be achieved by this reform are:

1. Establish a framework of rights and freedoms of foreigners which guarantees everyone the full exercise of fundamental rights.

2. Improving the system of legal and orderly channeling of labor migration, strengthening the linkage of the reception capacity of migrant workers into the labor market needs.

3. Increase efficiency in the fight against illegal immigration, strengthening the means and instruments of control and enforcement, especially as regards those who facilitate access or permanence of illegal immigration in Spain, adding to the system of penalties in this case and by strengthening the procedures for reimbursement of foreigners who have entered our country illegally.

4. Strengthening integration as one of the cornerstones of immigration policy, taking into account the acquis of the European Union on migration and international protection bid to achieve a framework of coexistence of identities and cultures.

5. Adapt the rules to work implementing powers provided for in the Statutes of Autonomy, that affect the initial authorization scheme of work, and the statutory powers in terms of reception and integration, as well as enhance the coordination of actions between public authorities competencies also affect immigration and strengthen cooperation between them in order to provide a more effective and better citizens.

Since during the last legislative session various reforms have been adopted in the Statute of Autonomy of the Autonomous Communities, for the first time, incorporate competencies linked to immigration, it makes sense to adapt its regulatory framework to the new distribution of powers. Also attended the distribution of powers, it seems imperative that this law will specify the different levels of competence in an article, as is the new Article 2 a, which generically defines the ordering principles of immigration policies in Spain.

6. Strengthen and institutionalize the dialogue with immigrant organizations and other organizations with interest and involvement in the migration area, including including trade unions and employers' representative, in the definition and development of migration policy.

VI

This Act has a single article, we report on the same all the changes that were introduced in the Organic Law 4 / 2000 of 11 January, both in the body and in its supplementary provisions. Moreover, the Act has several provisions and a single final repeal provision.

The Organic Law 4 / 2000 of 11 January which will reform remains articulated structure that is built into a Preliminary Title, Articles 1 to 2 b, dedicated to the General Provisions, a Title I, Articles 3 to 24, dedicated the rights and freedoms of foreigners, a Title II, Articles 25 to 49, devoted to the legal situation of foreigners, a Title III, Articles 50 to 66, which deals with breaches of rules on foreigners and its system of penalties and a Title IV, Articles 67 to 72, dedicated to the coordination of public authorities, also has nine additional, three transitional, a derogatory and ten finishes.

The amendments introduced by Law No. 4 / 2000 of 11 January, by this Act apply to all securities of the same.

Precision is useful to general affecting several articles on the terms of residence or resident, in any case be understood to imply a state of legal residence or stay, that is, according to the requirements set and, therefore, enable the alien's stay in our country in any of the situations covered. When you omit the reference to the situation of stay or residence, as for the exercise of fundamental rights is precisely because this situation should not be required.

In the Preamble set introduces a new Article 2 a, which is defined migration policy, laid down the principles and policy components of it and indicates its competence framework and a new Article 2b ordering principles and actions on integration of immigrants.

Under Part I introduces important modifications in order to outline what should be the framework of rights and freedoms of foreigners, together with related obligations, which involves the recognition of basic rights to foreigners regardless of their situation in Spain and the establishment of a progressive system of access rights to others based on strengthening the legal status with increasing the period of legal residence.

Stresses in this title the new settlement of rights of assembly and demonstration, association, union and strike may be exercised in accordance with the Spanish Constitution, in the terms established by the Constitutional Court and the new regulation that makes the rights education, which is fully recognized until he was eighteen, as well as legal aid, in which regulation has been taken into account, in addition to the jurisprudence of the Constitutional Court, the Ombudsman's recommendations. However, it should also be mentioned that, according to the interpretation of the Constitutional Court, no right is absolute, which means that the state has the capacity to impose any limits on the stay of foreigners if it is not based on a legal residence.

Also highlighted in this title the new regulation that gives the right to family reunification, the fundamental change introduced is that the beneficiaries of reunification, in line with what happens in most countries around us are basically delimit to the families that make up the nuclear family, the novelty here is that within this category of family, the couple is included with the applicant having a relationship similar to marriage affectivity, and these are grouped provides immediate access to the labor market. However, this reform leads to reunification of the ancestors is limited, as a rule, the over sixty-five years, providing humanitarian reasons may exist that allow a lower age.

In Title II introduces significant changes, mostly due to the transposition of European directives, emphasizing especially those incorporating new situations of foreigners, they are aimed at improving the status of permanent residents, the which are aimed at more effective fight against illegal immigration, highlighting among others the creation of a registry to track entries and exits. We should also mention the new article referring to foreign women victims of gender violence, which allows them to obtain authorization under exceptional circumstances and is intended to facilitate the reporting of these events. The law also introduces amendments to improve the system of legal and orderly channeling migration flows, bet again for orderly immigration in a legal framework and strengthened immigration policy that links the arrival of new immigrants to market needs work. In this regard, inter alia, regulates more concrete level of national employment situation in the catalog of difficult and limited coverage time consent to an occupation and territorial scope. Special mention the modifications made in relation to the integration of unaccompanied foreign children, which encourage better treatment of the child's situation, ranging from the possibility of repatriation to country of origin to ensure, where this is not the answer, the best conditions to ensure full integration of them into Spanish society, which must be an explicit objective of all the policies pursued by the various public authorities.

In Title III, with the aim of reinforcing the fight against illegal immigration are expected to prevent further infringements fraudulent behavior, such as marriages of convenience, the promotion of illegal immigration by indirect means or misrepresentation of data for enumeration . With the same objective is proposed to increase the economic sanctions for all offenses. Also introduced certain modifications in order to provide greater efficiency and more safeguards, to measures of suspension and return; also contemplates the extension of the period of detention would happen 60 days from the 40 that currently apply and as improving the legal security of those affected by these measures with the granting of a period of voluntary compliance with the expulsion order.

In Title IV is making certain amendments in order to strengthen coordination and cooperation of the government on immigration and of institutionalization in this regard the participation of trade unions and employers' representative.

Among the changes being introduced include the introduction to the Law of the Sectoral Conference on Immigration, as one of the most effective channels through which cooperation between the General State Administration and the Autonomous Communities, as well as requiring coordinated action by both general government, when the autonomous region had assumed responsibility for initial work authorization.

Another important change is that the law recognizes and institutionalizes the tripartite Labor Commission as institutional channel to establish dialogue with trade unions and employers' representative on migration.

VIII

Consistent with the foregoing, it is considered that this reform of the Organic Law 4 / 2000 of 11 January in Spain permit to develop a comprehensive migration policy, integrated and sustainable is needed for the coming years.
